‡ Figures in USD, GBP and NZD converted at exchange rates as at 30/9/88
ANZ achieved a record level of profit in 1988, continuing the trend of the past five years. After-tax profit increased by 31.2 per cent to A$505.4 million. Assets also have continued to grow. In the five years shown, total assets increased from A$35.8 billion to A$73.8 billion. The Group has more than one-third of its assets outside Australia.

The return on average assets and shareholders' funds has improved markedly after a period of decline. The improvement was achieved through a combination of higher interest margins, increases in business volumes, improved productivity and lower effective tax rates, evidence of the emerging success of longer-term strategies revolving around domestic and international diversification and expansion.

Earnings per share have grown steadily since 1986 to 71 cents a share (based on the weighted average number of shares on issue) reflecting the improvements in profitability. The total 1988 dividend is significantly higher than in previous years at 34.5 cents a share. In addition, a special dividend of 26 cents will be paid in April 1989. This dividend will ensure tax effective distribution of accumulated franking balances before 30 June 1989. The payout ratio between 1984 and 1987 has ranged from 32 percent to 42 percent; in 1988 this has been lifted to 49 percent fully franked (excluding the special dividend).

The franking of dividends under Australian tax legislation effectively frees them from tax in the hands of individual shareholders.

Figures on weighted average of shares on issue.
Operating costs as a percentage of net income have dropped from 68.2 cents in 1986 to 65.5 cents in 1988. The personnel cost component of this ratio was also reduced from 36 cents in 1986 to 32.6 cents in 1988.

The lower proportion of personnel costs to total costs in part reflects the Group's significant investment in technology.

Operating costs exclude bad and doubtful debts.

Net income is net interest, fees and other operating income.

As at 30 September 1988, the Group's capital ratio on the risk weighted basis was 8.5 percent of which 5.7 percent was tier 1. This exceeds the 8.0 percent threshold prescribed by the Reserve Bank of Australia.

Underlying the capital position of the Group is a strong growth in shareholders' funds over the past five years.

Capital ratios before 1988 are based on the Reserve Bank of Australia's previous definition where assets excluded off balance sheet business and were not risk weighted and capital excluded term subordinated debt.

Capital ratios for 1988 are calculated on the newly prescribed risk weighted basis and include term subordinated debt as tier 2 capital.

The Group's lending assets are reviewed regularly to ensure adequate provisions are held for specific exposures and as general cover for possible future losses.

The decrease in provision cover in 1988 as a percentage of total lending was partly due to growth in the lending base and to reduction in tax rates applied in notionally grossing up general provisions for future tax benefits.

Provision for doubtful debts tax effected.
The influence of the stockmarket downturn in October 1987 was a major factor in the improvement in average volumes and margins which led to the increase in net interest income.

Fee based income increased, but the trend to a greater reliance on this income as a proportion of total Group income was slowed by the lower contribution from investment banking operations.

The global banking sector benefitted from the flight to quality in the aftermath of the October 1987 stockmarket downturn with better margins and increased volumes of assets.

The finance companies sector, and in particular Esanda, made a significant contribution to Group results with record new business writings, and higher margins and fee income.

Our life assurance company continued to operate profitably despite the setbacks felt generally by the insurance industry after the stockmarket downturn.

The segment entitled “Other” includes investment banking and unit trust management which suffered losses as a result of the stockmarket downturn and subsequent reductions in business opportunities.

Eighty two percent of the Group's profits comes from operations in Australia and New Zealand.

The Australian sector made substantial improvements with significant contributions from banking and finance units.

The New Zealand operations were affected by difficult trading conditions, with an historically high level of bad and doubtful debts charge being incurred. Lower tax rates in the second half of the year provided some offset.

The UK-based operations benefitted from improved business mix, a reduction in administration costs, lower specific doubtful debt provisions, and a lower effective tax rate.

Trading results

This year's very pleasing results are in line with our earlier expectations. We achieved over 20 percent increase in interest and other operating income, and over 14 percent increase in non-interest income. Operating profit after tax was A$505.4 million, an increase of over 31 percent. Profit after extraordinary items increased by over 57 percent to A$628.9 million.

Improved performances reflect a combination of higher interest margins, an increase in business volumes, improved productivity and reduced tax rates. Although the Group bad and doubtful debt charge was higher than in 1987, the second half of 1988 saw a significant improvement over the first half. With the exception of investment banking, which includes the global merchant banking and stockbroking divisions, each of the principal divisions provided a solid contribution to the Group's results. In particular, banking operations benefited from the flight to quality following the stock market downturn in October 1987. Margins were slightly better than in the previous year.

The Australian banking operations contributed a profit of A$220.0 million, or 43.9 percent to the Group's result. Although affected by very difficult trading conditions and historically high levels of bad and doubtful debts common throughout the industry, our New Zealand banking operations contributed A$87.0 million, or 17.2 percent, to the Group's results. Our Australian finance company, the Esanda Finance group, continued to make a significant contribution and recorded a profit after tax of A$73.7 million, up 21.4 percent on last year.

The results of the London-based subsidiary ANZ Holdings (UK) Limited (which incorporates elements of the former Grindlays group as well as overseas merchant banking and stockbroking business) were particularly pleasing, recording a profit of A$18.3 million compared with a loss of A$2.6 million in 1987. This profit included a solid contribution from South Asia, better results from the Middle East, lower debt provisions (including some recoveries), and lower administration costs, particularly in the United Kingdom where the results of staff rationalisation are beginning to make a positive impact.

Overall, operating costs to net income have been reduced from 66.6 percent in 1987 to 65.5 percent in 1988. Personnel costs for each dollar earned were reduced from 34.5 cents in 1987 to 32.6 cents this year. We are, however, not satisfied with this level of costs and considerable management effort will be made in the coming year to achieve further reductions. We expect the strategies presently in place and described in the Group Chief Executive's Report to be effective in reducing costs to acceptable levels.

Directors believe that this year's results mark a turning point following the Group's long term strategic positioning with a 15 percent improvement in return on average shareholders' funds (13.1 percent in 1988 compared with 13.1 percent in 1987), and a 26.6 percent improvement in earnings per share (71 cents in 1988 compared with 56.1 cents in 1987).
Dividends

At an extraordinary general meeting in August 1988, Directors received shareholders' approval to declare the amounts and dates of dividend payments. Accordingly, Directors have announced a fully franked final dividend of 22 cents per share payable on 10 February 1989, which, together with the fully franked interim dividend of 12.5 cents paid on 1 July 1988, will make a total normal payment of 34.5 cents for the year. This is an increase of 64 percent over the total payment of 21 cents in the previous year. Shares issued under the recent 1 for 6 rights issue do not rank for this final dividend.

Due to a reduction in the level of corporate taxation payable in Australia, the value of franking credits will diminish after 30 June 1989 and it is in the shareholders' interest to clear accumulated franking balances by that date. Directors therefore propose to pay a special fully franked dividend of 26 cents per share on fully paid shares on 21 April 1989. Both the dividend reinvestment plan and the new bonus option plan will apply to this special dividend. All listed shares, including those issued pursuant to the recent rights issue, will rank for this special dividend except that shares paid to 50 cents will be entitled to a special dividend payment of 13 cents per share.

For holders of fully paid shares, other than those acquired through the recent 1 for 6 rights issue, dividend payment per share is:

- Interim: 12.5 cents
- Final: 22.0 cents
- Special: 26.0 cents
- Fully franked: 60.5 cents

Excluding the special dividend, payout for the year is equivalent to A$246 million. This payment is 70 percent greater than the total dividend payout of A$145 million for the 1987 year, and represents a payout ratio of 49 percent for the year. Part, however, will not be paid in cash by virtue of shareholders electing to take bonus shares instead of cash dividend and through reinvestment under the Group's dividend reinvestment plan.

In the absence of abnormal circumstances, the Directors are confident of strong profit growth in the years ahead, and the Group expects future dividend payments to be the equivalent of 50 percent of operating profits. Directors believe that this level of payout will preserve the Group's full franking ability under foreseeable tax regimes. We therefore expect that the 1989 interim dividend will be equivalent to at least the final dividend this year.

Improved investment options

During the year we put in place or announced our intention to introduce enhanced investment options for our shareholders.

Like other major Australian banks, we already offer our Australian shareholders fully franked dividends. As this benefit at present only applies to Australian shareholders and we are conscious of the need to retain equity among all shareholders, we sought and received approval of shareholders at the extraordinary general meeting to introduce a dividend selection plan. This plan is designed to allow shareholders to select an offshore source of dividends if they so choose. It will also assist some non-resident shareholders to obtain the benefits of dividend imputation provisions existing in their home countries, or to obtain the benefit of favourable provisions existing in applicable international taxation agreements. We are currently working with overseas government authorities and present indications are that the plan is not likely to be implemented before the 1989 interim dividend.

The extraordinary general meeting also approved a bonus option plan which enables Directors to effect capitalisation of reserves. In essence, shareholders now have the opportunity to receive fully paid bonus shares allotted from the Group's share premium reserve instead of cash dividends. The number of shares to be allotted to participating shareholders will be calculated by a formula which gives a 10 percent discount to market price.

Shareholders will also be aware that the Group has had in place for some time a dividend reinvestment plan allowing an option to reinvest dividend entitlements into the purchase of additional shares at a discount. During the year this discount was doubled to 10 percent, making it a very attractive option for both institutional and individual shareholders. This increased discount rate is available for the 1988 final dividend.

Shareholders at the extraordinary general meeting also approved a scheme that enables the issue of equity capital denominated in overseas currencies. This arises from the international nature of our business and the constantly changing relationships of the numerous currencies in which we conduct our business. As a bank, we must meet a minimum standard for balance sheet gearing. If currency movements converted to A$ increase the size of the balance sheet, more capital in A$ is required for no real increase in business, and calls on shareholders for more A$ capital could be more frequent. With shareholders holding capital with value deemed in foreign currencies as well as the A$, their investment may be less for greater benefits in relation to profits.

Directors also believe that having different classes of shares to cover the movement in foreign currency denomination will aid market comparison with other international banks and a stronger demand for ANZ shares is a potential outcome.

Although we have no immediate plans for an issue of "foreign currency" shares, it is intended that such issues will generally be made through bonus or rights issues, although the scheme gives us the right to raise foreign capital offshore. The terms of any such issue will not disadvantage any shareholder and Directors will follow past practice and ensure whenever possible existing shareholders receive preference.

Details of these initiatives have been advised to shareholders during the past year. However, we acknowledge that with so many options, or potential options available, shareholders could be confused as to the most appropriate option for their particular needs. In addition to an explanatory guide on the option plan available for the final dividend, it is intended to distribute to shareholders during 1989 a simplified booklet which we believe will assist them in making their decisions.
Management

ANZ today is a complex financial services conglomerate undertaking trading, savings and investment banking, stockbroking, general finance, life assurance and trustee and investment services. We have representation in 48 countries, with full licensed banking operations in 38. In branch banking, we have a comprehensive or niche presence in 23 countries.

Our operations are conducted on a traditional (Western) basis or under Islamic rules with at least 17 major languages used in the ANZ Worldwide network.

The demands on our senior people are indeed high and have increased enormously over the past five years since the acquisition of a trustee company, life office, stockbroker and Grindlays Bank.

The Board has recognised the position by segregating operations from the other major tasks for which a Chief Executive is also responsible -- strategic planning, policy issues, balance sheet management, manpower and succession planning, and investor, public and media relations.

As a consequence, the Board announced on 15 August 1988 the appointment of Mr W.J. Bailey as Deputy Chairman and Group Chief Executive, and Mr R.A.D. Nicolson as Group Managing Director and Chief Operating Officer. Mr Bailey remains responsible and accountable for the total Group operation whilst delegating total day-to-day operational control to Mr Nicolson.

The Board is most fortunate to have two such capable and compatible executives to lead the Group's able general management team which constitutes an excellent blend of background experience, skill, competence and aggression with the right balance to ensure quality management. The full team is listed on page 32 of this Report.

Our people

I want also to pay tribute to all our people who have made such a substantial contribution to the Group's progress during the year.

Maintaining a high quality of service and work, whilst undergoing substantial organisational and cultural changes, is not easy, particularly when rationalisation and divestment are part of this management evolution.

That so much change has been successfully undertaken and excellent results still achieved is highly commendable. I would like to record the appreciation of the Board on behalf of all shareholders to the management and staff of ANZ Worldwide.

New Zealand

Jeanette Pengelly, born in 1969, is a term deposits/overseas clerk in the branch at Te Kaoa, a farming town. She has been with ANZ for almost three years, beginning in her hometown of Taumaranui, also a farming town. She is single and her hobbies include horse riding, skiing and swimming.
Assets
Total assets of the Group increased by 13 percent (A$8.5 billion) to A$73.8 billion at 30 September 1988. Most of this increase occurred in the first half and reflects our previously stated objective of managing our assets more effectively rather than growing them for growth’s sake.

The Group has 37 percent of its assets offshore.

Quality of assets
There has been some media comment concerning the quality of the Group’s asset book. Alleged exposure through loans to entrepreneurs has been mentioned as has also the extent of our LDC portfolio.

For the record, ANZ is the main banker to four of the so-called 20 entrepreneurial investment companies listed on The Australian Stock Exchange. Management has always taken a prudent approach to credit assessment as is evidenced by the levels of provisioning in the first half of this year following the stockmarket readjustment of October 1987. The much lower level of our provisioning required in the second half, which is against industry trends, supports this contention.

On the matter of LDC exposure, the Board believes that competition between banks as to the best provisioned bank is counter-productive. The interdependency of banks in the global settlement risks area really means that all banks, to a degree, share in each other’s exposures. Banking is about risk management.

The Group’s total exposure to countries whose debts have been rescheduled, including trade finance, is currently the equivalent of A$1,380.4 million or 1.9 percent of assets (1987 — 2.3 percent). No one country’s gross exposure exceeds 0.5 percent of assets or 8.8 percent of shareholders’ funds.

By geographic region, our total exposure to borrowers in rescheduling countries subject to provisions is:

South and Central America
- A$1,124.2 million

Eastern European Bloc
- A$110.9 million

Africa & Middle East
- A$89.6 million

Asia
- A$55.7 million

A$1,380.4 million

Net exposure (after allowing for allocated general provisions) represents some 22.2 per cent of Group shareholders’ funds.

Overall provision cover held (after allowing for tax relief where applicable) represents approximately 36.9 percent of the total exposure. We consider this to be entirely adequate given the nature of our portfolio. This cover is largely held within the general provision for doubtful debts and is based on assessment factors promulgated by the Bank of England last year. A re-assessment of the total general provision along risk grading lines has resulted in some reallocation within the general provision.

Hong Kong

Peter Tong is manager, data processing and communications, and is responsible for all the software and hardware Hong Kong uses in its data processing and communications facilities. He has been with the Group since 1986. Peter, who was born in Hong Kong, is married. His hobbies include photography, tennis and squash.
Capital adequacy
We have significantly improved our capital ratios and are comfortably placed under the Reserve Bank of Australia’s minimum requirements for capital adequacy announced during the year. As at 30 September 1988, the Group’s risk weighted assets were A$67.7 billion resulting in a tier 1 risk weighted capital ratio of 5.7 percent and tier 2 ratio of 2.8 percent. Our total ratio of capital to risk weighted assets of 8.5 percent compares very favourably with the targeted minimum of 8 percent.

The revised capital adequacy guidelines do tend to favour lending for housing. Because only half as much capital will need to be held against a loan secured by a mortgage compared with, say, a commercial loan of the same size to a business, lending for housing has become more attractive. This could eventually lead to downward pressure on housing loan interest rates.

Changes to Government regulations
In its Federal Budget, the Australian government announced two important changes to banking, namely the removal of the distinction between trading and savings banks and the phasing down of the existing statutory reserve deposits (SRD) requirement in conjunction with the establishment of a new statutory deposit of one percent of total liabilities applicable to all banks.

This should eventually produce some cost saving effects which should work through to marginal changes in interest rates. The SRD change should ultimately be worth at the most about 0.2 percent to our margins and is expected to be split between lower lending rates and higher deposit rates, with minimal impact on profits.

However, the lower SRD requirement will also reduce the incentive to favour bill financing vis-a-vis funded lending in order to move business off-balance sheet or to channel it to non-bank subsidiaries.

Investor relations
During the year we have devoted particular attention to our investor relations.
Mr Bailey, Mr Nicolson and myself have all been involved in meetings with and presentations to shareholders and the wider investment community in Australia and New Zealand, the United Kingdom, Europe and the United States. A greater understanding of the Group’s investment potential is gradually being achieved.

Continuing emphasis will be placed on this activity in the years ahead. Our objective is to ensure that our stock is fairly priced and that a sufficiently liquid market exists for the benefit of all our shareholders.

Our initial shareholders’ meetings in Wellington and London earlier this year were very successful and similar meetings will again be held in 1989: on 1 February in Wellington and 14 February in London.

Germany

Benedikt Haus is a correspondent banking manager in Frankfurt and his responsibilities include banks in Germany, Austria and Luxembourg. He has worked for ANZ since 1 January 1987. He and his wife live at Ottenbach, near Frankfurt, and they have a son, Jan Niklas, aged one. Benedikt’s hobbies are skiing and do-it-yourself activities.
Details will be advised to shareholders separately. We also began publication of a small newsletter which is posted to shareholders three times a year to keep them up-to-date with developments within the Group and the banking industry. We believe ANZ is the only Australian bank to provide these additional communications with individual shareholders.

Board changes

Mr R.B. Vaughan was appointed a Director of the Group in January 1988. Mr Vaughan is Chairman and Managing Director of Dalgety Holdings Limited and Chairman and Chief Executive of Dalgety Farmers Limited in which ANZ has a 20 percent interest.

In September, Sir Roderick Carnegie was involved in a serious car accident which involved his hospitalisation for several months. We are most fortunate that he has recovered from his major injuries and is able to continue his valuable contribution to the Board.

As I have indicated earlier in the year, I shall be retiring from the Board following the Annual General Meeting on 23 January 1989, at which time Mr. M.D. Bridgland will become Chairman of the Board. Mr Bridgland has been a Director for six years and I am delighted to be succeeded by such a capable and experienced person.

Outlook

During my period as a Director for over 12 years, six of them as Chairman, I have had the great fortune to be involved in the dramatic transformation of ANZ from a relatively small regional bank into Australia's most diversified financial services institution of global standing. For much of this period, ANZ was seen as the most profitable Australian bank with the most cost efficient delivery of products and services. This was predicated on almost our entire activities being conducted in what was then a heavily regulated domestic environment.

The move to acquire a worldwide network with the purchase of Grindlays Bank was designed to enable ANZ to take a position in world markets which in the longer term would provide profitable growth to the advantage of shareholders. The Board was prepared to accept that for a short period of years growth in profitability would be slowed.

Results this year have vindicated this decision. The Board is confident that the significant improvements recorded this year represent a foundation for a very secure and increasingly profitable future.

Looking at the year ahead, we expect a more moderate and balanced expansion of the Australian economy compared with a buoyant economy this year. Lower inflation and interest rates are forecast for the next 12 months. The balance of payments remains the principal area of concern with the current account deficit set to decline only slowly. Prospects are heavily dependent on favourable external influences, particularly commodity prices. Overall, the business environment seems likely to be conducive to further solid growth in ANZ's operations.

On this basis, current indications are that the Group's profits and key profitability ratios will continue to improve. In the absence of major disruptions to global or domestic markets, Directors are confident that we will achieve strong profit growth and higher returns on shareholder equity, and expect a further significant improvement in Group profit in 1988-89.

SIR WILLIAM VINES
Chairman
12 December 1988
Our shareholders have been very supportive of the long term strategy taken by the Group to position itself as a player of substance in the evolving global financial market place. It is pleasing, therefore, that the results achieved in the year just ended give tangible evidence that our strategy is working. We believe that these and our future results will continue to vindicate our resolve to add value to our customers through offering a different and unique range of services.

Our strategy is different to that of other Australian banks. It covers:
- building on our domestic strengths in Australia and New Zealand;
- ensuring continued growth and strength in our home based region of influence – Australasia and Asia Pacific — is a focal point of activity;
- maintaining our well regarded presence in capital market centres — London, New York, Tokyo, Hong Kong and Singapore;
- creating niche branch banking positions in certain developing countries; and
- establishing an extensive distribution network in a mix of developed and developing countries with strong interconnected trade flows — north/south and east/west.

The mix of products and services on which to build our profitable future has to relate to the skills of our people. It is clear that we can offer:
- a full range of financial services in our home markets
- selected banking services in niche foreign branch banking markets
- services and products dependent on distribution access in network points, viz. trade finance, bonding business, selective capital market activities, and private and investment banking.

Such a strategy and business mix will strengthen ANZ's position as a strong and vital international financial services group based in Australasia.

The Group has been remoulded into an entity with a new and progressive culture. Difficult and challenging decisions have been taken and the outcome digested. The future is bright indeed.

During the year under review, many changes have taken place and a number of highlights are worth recording for shareholders' information and understanding of our operations.

Individual Banking Services

The heart of a successful strategy to deliver banking services to individuals is in superior customer service at a competitive price. We are well advanced with a customer service drive, involving staff at all levels.

The elimination of waste, service redundancy and product obsolescence, which is a reflection of our regulated past, is being progressed. We are also leading the major Australian banks along the path of pricing products more according to cost and so reducing the practice of one group of customers subsidising another. Despite an initial reaction by some sections of the community, our customers have, on the whole, accepted this concept as being equitable.

Our major thrust will be the medium term reconfiguration of our distribution system, with the objective of significantly reducing cost levels while simultaneously improving customer service.
The key concepts involved in this reconfiguration, including relationship banking, centralised lending centres and branch accounting centres are under trial in three regions in Australia.

Our retail banking systems are being redeveloped for the next decade within a framework which reflects the changes proposed in our distribution channels, our detailed segmentation of customer needs and the requirement to link any additional banks acquired through a common customer information facility.

In India, all branches are being refurbished to permit improved customer service. In other countries, Papua New Guinea and the Pacific Islands in particular, customer service is being improved and information systems are being refined.

As well as the traditional bricks and mortar network of branches, ANZ also provides a payments system for personal customers through EFTPOS (electronic funds transfer at the point of sale) and Visa where we hold leadership positions in Australia. The investment in electronic banking facilities will enable us to take early advantage of technological advances and market acceptance of alternative ways of doing business.

Operational overview

The demand for housing finance was strong in Australia in 1988 despite volatility in interest rates. Response to other forms of consumer credit was fairly weak both in Australia and New Zealand. The "flight to quality" after the October 1987 stockmarket downturn boosted deposits.

ANZ now has close to three million electronically striped cards on issue in Australia, of which more than half have personal identification numbers (PINs). Strong growth in electronics using National and Day automatic teller machines (ATMs) and point of sale terminals (EFTPOS) continues. ANZ Electronic Network Services is the leader in Australia in EFTPOS with 27 percent of the installed base of terminals.

In India, automation of our 56 branches is well advanced with more than 80 percent of customer accounts computerised. In addition, new products are being developed including a Visa card service and ATMs.

Business Banking Services

Corporate banking

ANZ has maintained its position as a banker to almost three-quarters — and prime banker to more than one-third — of Australia’s leading corporations. Business volumes increased along with our overall market share.

The ability to develop and provide reliable, efficient, flexible and innovative service, products and financing techniques was frequently demonstrated. Our network, with experience in the world’s major financial markets, has assisted many Australian corporations in their quest to enter the world arena. Likewise, many offshore corporations have taken the opportunity to use our network to invest in Australia. However, most importantly, an ever increasing number of global multinational corporations based in foreign countries are becoming ANZ Worldwide relationship clients as they recognise and use our unique network.

Commercial banking

We are also very active in providing a relationship banking service to medium sized companies — the “middle” market.

Regional offices throughout Australia are able to take prompt decisions, enabling ANZ to provide a speedy and professional service to more than 6,000 commercial clients in Australia.

International services

Within Australia we have 40 regional offices which provide a full range of specialised international banking services.

With our global network in countries which account for more than 70 percent of Australia’s trading partners, our service is the most comprehensive in the market.

Our automated documentary letter of credit system has been updated to allow on-line customer interface and the Bank Interchange Transfer System (BITIS), an Australian-developed domestic interbank same-day payment network, was installed.

In New Zealand, international services were enhanced with the introduction of Australian currency interest bearing cheque accounts and a term deposit facility available in all major currencies. Computer-based systems for the issuing of foreign currency drafts and letters of credit were introduced.

Finance companies

Esanda Finance, our Australian finance arm, had record business writings. Although consumer demand continued to be generally subdued, increased motor vehicle sales and plant expenditure by businesses contributed to strong growth in leasing and hire purchase financing. There were also increases in construction financing and development ventures.

Esanda’s asset base increased by over 20 percent during the year and market share continued its rise of the past two years. Increased business activity, lower interest rates and improved commodity prices for rural producers all contributed to an improvement in the ability of customers to service commitments. Consequently, net bad debts were down almost 20 percent on the 1987 level, notwithstanding the strong increase in lending assets recorded for the year.

Esanda was an active borrower in both the retail and wholesale markets with strong support for public issues, particularly in the second half of the year. It was the first Australian finance company to tap the Australian tradeable debenture and note market, with total issues of A$200 million in medium-term debentures. A fixed interest rollover bond, which offers the benefits of security for capital and income to the retiree investor market, was launched in conjunction with the Group’s life office, Greater Pacific Life (now ANZ Life) in August.

In New Zealand, the severe stockmarket adjustment had an adverse impact on the results of our New Zealand finance company, UDC. Although bad debts were sizeable, UDC achieved record levels of income through positive marketing and improved margins.
Investment Banking Services

Our worldwide merchant banking and stockbroking interests were integrated on 1 October 1988 into a global investment banking and securities group.

The integration of such businesses, a worldwide trend, recognises their close interaction and enables centralisation of their administration. It will reduce administrative overlay and produce better results for customers and shareholders alike. As the global rationalisation process unfolds, we expect the surviving players to create a better structured market environment. ANZ is well placed to take advantage of such conditions.

As part of our strategy in the United Kingdom to concentrate our resources on corporate, institutional and network banking business, London-based Capel-Cure Myers International Asset Management Division was sold to a Canadian company. A useful capital gain results.

In February, ANZ Securities (Switzerland) Limited was established to concentrate on the Swiss capital markets. Complementary operations exist in Australia, New Zealand, Hong Kong, London and New York.

ANZ is an active trader for fee income in lesser developed country (LDC) debt. This business showed good growth and we achieved more than five percent of the market.

Euro commercial and promissory note mandates under facility management agreements totalling A$1.72 billion were negotiated during the year. Also, we arranged a number of eurobond issues, including those for the World Bank and the Australian Trade Commission.

The backing of the Group has helped ANZ McCaughan increase its market share, albeit in a greatly reduced market. This support also helped the company remain among the top three stockbroking houses in Australia with a growing international presence. It now operates in nine countries through 14 offices.

Like most competitors in the industry, we were forced to curtail some operations and reduce staff. However, we also used the opportunity to upgrade, selectively, personnel skills and diversify more widely. This was not without some cost to profit but was a necessary investment for the future.

Private banking

Deposits and funds managed by private banking units around the world exceed A$4.5 billion.

Existing offices in London, Jersey, Guernsey, Geneva and Monaco were extended to include a new office in Hong

United Kingdom

Alastair Hoult was an assistant account officer in international corporate in London. Aged 34, he joined ANZ in 1986 as a graduate trainee from Edinburgh University. Alastair is married and lives at Brockley, in south east London. His hobbies are hockey and foreign travel.
Kong and our trust and company administration subsidiaries in Vanuatu and the Cook Islands. Hong Kong will focus initially on providing trust and related services to the dynamic markets in the Asia Pacific area and the Pacific Islands companies will complement our existing trust businesses in the Channel Islands and Switzerland.

Overall results for the year were satisfactory despite the downturn in investment management and securities business which followed the sizeable stockmarket adjustment in October 1987. Jersey and Guernsey produced particularly good results.

Investment and trust services

Despite the shock of the stockmarket downturn, funds under management are in excess of A$2.3 billion and expected to grow strongly with the introduction of products attuned to the more capital secure demands of the market.

ANZ Nominees Limited maintained its position as the largest Australian bank custodian in terms of securities held. A marginal decline in client activity was recorded after the stockmarket downturn, but this has been compensated for by an increase in our customer base.

ANZ Worldwide

Americas

We operate in the Americas as a wholesale financial services institution through representation in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Houston, Toronto, Cayman Islands and Rio de Janeiro.

New York Branch, which is the centre for regional treasury operations, was expanded to offer future rate agreements, options and currency and interest rate swap facilities. The Branch also acts as a US dollar clearing bank for our global network, and is in the top 20 banks based on clearing value through the New York "Chips" system. Our sizeable correspondent banking business is a strength in this good fee earning business.

Our trade finance capabilities continue to expand with activities concentrated in Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and Toronto.

We remain the only Australian bank with an operational presence in Canada.

Asia Pacific

Like other foreign banks operating in the competitive Japanese market, we faced heavy costs and narrow lending margins. However, by concentrating on trade financing and treasury products and using the ANZ Worldwide network, our Branch is showing good results, with the interest displayed by Japanese investors in Australian currency deposits being used to advantage. In the circumstances, our Tokyo Branch produced splendid results.

In South Korea, local banking controls continue to restrict our capacity for foreign and local currency lending. Despite these constraints, the Branch is producing pleasing results.

Kenya

Lucy Ngurjiri has been the receptionist and telephone operator at our Nairobi headquarters since 1975. She married in 1978 and has two children, both boys, aged eight and six. Her husband is a banker with Kenya Commercial Bank. Lucy's spare time is spent with her family.
Networking remains a high priority and merchant banking activities are growing with the development of some specialised products in the capital markets area, particularly in Singapore.

The Australian business migration programme continues to provide good business opportunities in most centres.

Treasury activities, particularly in the larger financial centres of Hong Kong, Tokyo and Singapore, are rated highly and produce excellent results.

In June, a special correspondent arrangement was entered into with the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China. As a result, China's largest bank will use the ANZ Worldwide network, particularly in the Middle East, Africa and South Asia where China's trading interests are rapidly expanding.

Our representative offices in Thailand, Malaysia and Indonesia actively promote the ANZ Worldwide network to government departments, corporations and correspondent banks with good and profitable business resulting.

In Fiji, although asset growth was curtailed, good profits continue. Approval was received to open a new branch in the Cook Islands to further complement our business base in the South Pacific.

In Papua New Guinea we are targeting commercial business as a growth area, particularly import and export customers, where we can exploit the advantages of the ANZ Worldwide network and our expertise in international banking.

United Kingdom

Our London operations had an excellent year with profits well ahead of budget. We were active in lead managing and arranging a number of complex international transactions from which significant fees were earned. The office was successful in pursuing debt recoveries, particularly in the area of shipping.

Continental Europe

Our business in Europe has shown a considerable improvement on the previous year. We are continuing to promote the ANZ Worldwide network to major corporations with extensive global businesses. Results are pleasing and clearly demonstrate the unique added value we can provide to international producers of goods and services.

An ANZ Branch was opened in Paris, enabling us to participate in the wholesale and international markets in France with the full support of the parent company's capital resources. The Branch is achieving good results. Complementary to the Branch is our French subsidiary, Grindlays Bank SA, whose profits were substantially higher than in the previous year.

United States

Mark Thomas is a foreign exchange dealer in New York. He is 24, single and lives in Brooklyn, New York. He enjoys working with computers and his hobbies include carpentry and tennis.
In West Germany, the Frankfurt Branch had another successful year, particularly with treasury services.

The segmentation of our businesses in Switzerland between Geneva (private banking) and Zurich (treasury, corporate and investment services) was completed, producing considerable efficiencies. However, further improvements are required to achieve acceptable returns.

Operations in Greece had another good year, while the representative offices in Italy and Spain helped produce a number of worthwhile business opportunities for the Group.

We are now very well placed to take advantage of new opportunities that will emerge within the single European market planned for 1992, both from cross border banking within Europe and also to and from Europe.

South Asia

We have maintained our position as the leading foreign bank in India and contribution to Group results was most pleasing.

A new organisation structure was introduced to focus clearly on business objectives. Four market oriented units — institutional banking, corporate and commercial banking, personal banking and investment banking — replace a structure based on geographic regions.

Individual banking remains a priority and a core business activity in India. New products are being introduced with a continuing emphasis on attracting new customers.

In January 1988 we became the first bank to establish a merchant banking capability in Bangladesh. Results have exceeded expectations, with mandates being obtained from multinational companies. Despite depressed economic conditions resulting from extensive flooding, deposits have grown about 18 per cent and the country reported an improved contribution to Group results.

Sri Lanka continued to produce excellent results in the face of a difficult environment. Profit increased at a pleasing rate and further improvement is expected in 1989.

Middle East

The business climate remained relatively subdued throughout the region but our Branches have been trading satisfactorily. If the area remains stable, we can look forward to sharing in the benefits of both local and international business that will follow.

In Jordan, the Branch network was refurbished and the business restructured to benefit from business opportunities which are flowing from our long association with the country.

The Group structured and acted as currency agent for a US$100 million dual currency loan to the Sultanate of Oman, and our share of trade financing business through the Emirate of Dubai has increased.

India

Vineeta Selvi is manager of the Santa Cruz branch in suburban Bombay. She has worked for the Group for more than seven years, including nine months with ANZ Frankfurt. Single, Vineeta's hobbies include Indian classical dancing (bharat natyam), tennis, reading, aerobics, subbuteo and sketching.
Our performance in Pakistan remained strong although it was affected by a substantial and retrospective increase in the corporate tax rate. The Modaraba, an investment fund under Islamic principles which was successfully floated last year, wrote a strong portfolio of corporate risk.

Treasury business managed out of the Bahrain Offshore Unit had a particularly successful year. This unit is responsible for a small but growing relationship base that the Group has developed among established Saudi Arabian businesses.

Africa
The continuing shortage of foreign exchange in most African countries in which we are represented has been alleviated to some extent by external aid donations and "soft" loans.

A merchant banking presence was established in Zimbabwe and it is planned to introduce further merchant banking products in East and West Africa during 1988-89.

Our African representation has a dual purpose — we are providing a valued interface to the world financial markets whilst our operations continue to produce a satisfactory return on investment. They generate and support valuable network business by providing an international banking service to some of our major multinational customers and to sovereign governments.

Australian Subsidiary Companies

Executors and trustee services
ANZ Executors and Trustees's cash management service common funds, V2 and S22, exceeded A$2.18 billion and are now clearly the dominant funds of their type in the market.

The V2 Common Fund was extended to Tasmania and Western Australia, making this cash management service available Australia-wide.

Our charitable trusts department administers a large conglomerate of trusts. Funds under administration total around A$120 million with distributions to the community exceeding A$7 million a year.

Assets under administration for estates and trusts now total about A$300 million.

Insurance services
In December 1988, Greater Pacific Life was renamed ANZ Life Assurance Co — ANZ Life — to link the company clearly to the Group in the community's eyes.

The level and pattern of Greater Pacific Life's new business was affected by the stockmarket downturn which caused a setback to profit growth. This was the general trend for the life insurance industry. However, profitability held up very well indeed — a most pleasing performance.

Zimbabwe

Cyril Nyatsanza is manager, systems and control, with responsibility for internal audit and following up inspection reports. He lives in Harare, the capital of Zimbabwe, with his wife and three children. He plays soccer and squash and enjoys all spectator sports. Other hobbies include music and cinema.
In the area most affected, investment-linked business, we emerged with an even higher reputation for investment performance.

Sweeping changes to the taxation of superannuation also had a detrimental impact on the insurance industry which must now cope with major administrative and systems changes.

During the year the Group’s life insurance operations were extended to New Zealand. Insurance bonds are already being successfully offered and other products will be introduced progressively.

Unit trusts
The year marked the final stage of the restructuring of the trusts and the reorganisation of Australian Fixed Trusts (AFT), one of Australia’s largest trust management groups with almost A$2 billion under management. Unitholders are now starting to see the benefits of the restructure of AFT’s property trusts in a tangible way.

In the last quarter of 1988 further substantial increases were reported in the values of most units in the various property trusts, with many showing high returns over the past year, clearly demonstrating the success of the restructure programme.

All property trusts are now soundly based and it now remains to complete the repositioning of the equity-based trusts as a result of a much altered market and changed investor sentiment.

As foreshadowed last year, AFT Investor Services Limited, our subsidiary which manages the various trusts, returned a disappointing profit result. The stockmarket downturn affected the gross volume of funds under management and reduced revenue during a period when this company was absorbing residual restructure costs. However, with a much more streamlined, efficient and far lower cost management structure in place, we are confident of achieving profitability in 1988-89.

The past two years have unquestionably been difficult both for unitholders and management. The tolerance of unitholders and the dedication of staff in squarely facing the issues and positioning AFT for a prosperous future is acknowledged.

Treasury Services
Our position as a leading Group in foreign exchange activities was confirmed in the May 1988 edition of Euromoney magazine when ANZ was voted in a foreign exchange survey as the highest rated Asian based bank and sixth on a worldwide basis for treasury services.

The benefit of a focused approach to world capital markets was also highlighted by the accolades we received as “bank issuer of the year” for the US$1 billion euro-commercial paper programme which was launched during 1987.

Greece

Joanna Nicolaidou-Malovits joined the Group in January 1986 as a secretary in the corporate area. She is now secretary to the private banking manager. Joanna is married and lives in Kifisia, a northern suburb of Athens. She likes swimming, gardening and travelling, and has worked in England, Holland and Italy.
Significant capital market initiatives this year included the launch of a medium term note programme for issues up to US$500 million of flexible dated instruments, which further enhanced our liability management profile, and a well-timed term subordinated debt issue structured to meet new capital adequacy guidelines introduced by the Reserve Bank of Australia.

In the domestic medium term debt market, a A$500 million issue received overwhelming market support.

Important steps are being taken in the US regulatory environment which will position us to make more effective use of the large and liquid investor potential in the US domestic markets.

In New Zealand, our treasury operations expanded its business base and again made a significant contribution to results. A financial services division was established to provide specialist off-balance sheet products, including forward rate agreements, fixed rate facilities and interest and currency swaps.

Our full membership of the New Zealand Futures Exchange enhanced our ability to provide these products at competitive rates.

Technology

We have identified critical strategic areas for our information systems development and are now using advanced technology to expedite progress in these areas. In particular, work has commenced on the extensive use of relational technology to supply consolidated customer relationship information and detailed market analysis.

Our development programme has required the acquisition of some of the most advanced computer equipment in the world. It will assist us to provide higher levels of customer service, and products more attuned to customer requirements than has previously been possible.

We believe the application of sophisticated techniques in selected areas, rather than the redevelopment of monolithic systems to replace the total environment, will provide more rapid payback. Systems developed on this basis can be completed sooner, at lower risk, and with better fit to a complex and constantly changing market environment.

United Arab Emirates

Mohd Al Mulla is a trainee officer in the bills department in Sharjah. A 26-year-old bachelor, he has a Business Administration degree from California State University in the US. His hobbies include music, photography and computers.
We have strengthened further our international core network. Work has commenced on a major unification of our total payment systems. ANZ is already recognised as Australia's foremost bank for international payments and we believe these system enhancements will enable us to participate on equal terms in the international payments business.

In India we are actively supporting development of new technologies and have established a computer software development company, Index Computing Pty Ltd, in the Electronics Export Processing Zone at Bangalore. This wholly-owned subsidiary provides software for use in our global information processing centres and in other areas of the Group.

Our global communications utilise voice and data networks. Using digitised voice, fibre optic and satellite technologies, we have the communications capability to take us into the future with assurance.

Within Australia, the Group's data processing facilities continued to provide competitive, high quality, high availability information processing services. Disaster recovery procedures continued to be improved.

The A$3.5 million upgrading of our data processing facilities at Mount Waverley, Victoria, was completed during the year and we are now equipped to meet our customers' needs well into the future. During 1989 we will be installing further advanced technology to improve throughput and response.

Personnel

At 30 September 1988, Group staff worldwide totalled 42,445, an increase of just over three per cent. Staff in Australia and New Zealand, including all subsidiaries, was 32,367 (30,564 in 1987). Reduction in the number of staff in London continued during the year. Since the natural attrition and voluntary retirement and redundancy programme began in 1987, we have reduced numbers by about a quarter.

Although staffing levels have increased in some operational areas, these are directed to continued profit growth in our business activities.

Personnel costs amounted to A$1,162 million, or 49.8 per cent of total operating costs excluding interest paid.

The efficiency of our staff has improved significantly with personnel costs per dollar of revenue earned reduced from 34.5 cents in 1987 to 32.6 cents in 1988.

Papua New Guinea

Mary Angellina Keledo is a data input clerk at our Wanganui branch, which she joined earlier this year. She is single and her home village is Sarita, Milne Bay Province. Her hobbies are swimming, snorkelling, tennis and stamp collecting.
Staff incentive and profit sharing schemes
A total of A$37.4 million pre-tax was paid during the year to staff throughout the Group in the form of incentive payments based on individual performance and Group goal targets.

Industrial agreements
A significant restructure of the Award covering bank officers in Australia has now been in effect for more than 12 months, replacing a years-of-service remuneration system with a productivity and performance-based system.

Resultant productivity increases are now beginning to be reflected in our results, although we expect further improvement in the years ahead.

Staff share purchases
During the year a further 3,495,215 shares were purchased under the Employee Share Purchase Scheme operating in Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom. At present 47 percent of eligible Australian staff are shareholders under this scheme.

In addition, 1,148,000 partly-paid shares and 332,500 fully-paid shares were issued under the Senior Officers' Share Purchase Scheme.

Total staff shareholdings amount to 19,370,481 shares, or 2.3 percent of issued capital.

Personnel services
Recognition of the importance of an efficient and committed workforce extends beyond financial rewards. It also involves individualised training and education programmes, career path planning and confidential counselling in personal issues such as AIDS and alcohol and drug dependency. We are proud of our achievements in these areas.

Training, covering skill formation, career development and further education, is fundamental to our success. During the year our expenditure in this area exceeded four percent of total payroll.

Senior management changes
Effective succession planning for staff at all levels is essential for our future. It involves structured personal development programmes through both specialised education and training, and working experience with different business units within the Group.

For this reason, several senior management changes were made during the year, and at the same time we took the opportunity to make minor organisation changes.

Japan

Nohue Itabashi is a marketing clerk responsible for looking after retail customers for Australia and New Zealand deposits. Born in Tokyo, she joined the Group in March 1985. Nohue is single and her hobbies include golf, skiing and listening to music.
structural changes. Also, a number of members of the senior management team attended leading business schools under our post-graduate education scheme which has been in force for about 15 years. During the past two years the following senior officers have attended such institutions:

Harvard Executive Programme:

Stanford Executive Programme:
Messrs John R. McConnell and Derek W. Gall attended in 1987 and 1988 respectively.

University of Hawaii Executive Programme:
Mr Ron G. Adams was at this programme in 1987.

A number of senior management changes have taken place. The General Management Team is listed on page 32.

Two new appointments on which we wish to comment are:

- Mr B.B. Dickinson, after a highly successful career, was released from ANZ to become Managing Director of Dalgety Farmers Ltd (an associated company).
- In recognition of the need to strengthen our technical and information services capability, Dr Bruno Sorrentino joined us in the important post of Group Executive, Technology.

Community Involvement

Sponsorships and philanthropy continue to provide an effective vehicle for promoting our image and fulfilling corporate responsibilities to the communities in which our major operations are located.

Funding covered many sections of the community, including the Arts, sport, health and medical research, education, conservation, social welfare and environmental causes.

An unique project in Australia is the assistance we have been giving to the development by a medical research group of a "bionic" ear to help people with hearing defects.

This year saw the establishment of the ANZ Group Staff Foundation, the first of its kind in Australia. Initiated by staff, the Foundation enables our staff members to make worthwhile contributions to the Australian community by combining small donations into a meaningful sum through regular payroll deductions. Contributions are voluntary, and the Foundation is administered by ANZ Trustees under the auspices of our Australian Staff Committee.

A number of innovative projects were undertaken in recognition of Australia’s bicentenary.

Zaire

Busadiidi Ndomamungo is a clerk in the letters of credit department. He has worked for the Group for 13 years. He and his wife and six children live in Bas-Zaire.
Construction costs of the superbly crafted Australia State Coach — a gift from the people of Australia to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II for the bicentennial — were initially met by ANZ through an underwriting arrangement. A major portion of these costs was recouped from public subscriptions during a national tour of the coach. Built predominantly by Australian tradesmen using Australian materials, it is now housed at the Royal Mews at Buckingham Palace for use on State occasions.

Our major Arts involvement in 1988 was The ANZ Bicentennial Art Commissions. Major state art galleries were provided with funds to commission works of art on a bicentennial theme by artists resident in Australia. The works formed an exhibition which toured all states and territories for nine months.

Also we provided overseas scholarships to graduate students in dance, drama, art and music from the acclaimed Victorian College of the Arts.

Another unique bicentennial project was sponsorship of the longest chain of beacons in history, which circled the Australian coast on the evening of Saturday 18 June. The 15,000 kilometre "celebration by fire" directly involved more than one million Australians and many of our branches at more than 550 sites.

Our strong support of sport continued with major sponsorship of the Australian Institute of Sport, the ANZ Youth Sport Scholarship programme and the Australian team to the Seoul Olympics.

In New Zealand, we were involved in the International Festival of the Arts, a biennial event. We also sponsored the Auckland-based Perkel Opera in its presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Yeoman of the Guard.' We have sponsored the ANZ Bank Art Award for eight years.

Our involvement with sport concentrates on the New Zealand International Festival of the Horse, a major equestrian event, and the New Zealand Women's Hockey Association which has received our support for 11 years.

One project which impacts on almost every New Zealander is our involvement with a national water safety programme in conjunction with the New Zealand Water Safety Council.

In India, we continued our sponsorship of the Kala Sangam (the Confluence of Arts) which comprises performances by well known artists in Indian classical music and dance, the proceeds of which were donated to the Development Centre for Exceptional Children in Bangalore.

Bangladesh

Majedur Rahman, born in 1957, joined the Group in 1981 as a trainee officer. Fifteen months later he was managing a deposit collecting branch in Chittagong. Other jobs included personal banking and foreign trade before he was seconded to Group Audit in the Middle East and Africa. He is now manager of the Dhaka branch in Dhaka.
We have a longstanding relationship with the Missionaries of Charity, run by Mother Theresa. We funded the construction of a deep tube well for Mother Theresa's Calcutta home and assisted her various other projects.

We also support other charitable groups, including Cry, an organisation concerned with disabled children in India.

The Future

Some outstanding business issues remain to be finalised which could see further rationalisation and divestment of small parts of the Group which do not fit with our strategy. Also, the need to produce acceptable returns from the refocused investment banking units will continue to receive attention.

Our Australian based non-banking financial services arms will be restructured to eliminate unproductive duplication in both products and delivery systems. A better return to shareholders will result.

In the branch banking operations in Australia and New Zealand, action underway to improve customer service, range of products, efficiency and effectiveness will continue apace. This is being supported by flexible and cost efficient electronic transaction and information systems and will ensure our overall performance is more than acceptable to customers, staff and our shareholders.

Actions to expand our business will be taken as opportunities and timing are judged to be right. Our priority is to strengthen our position in our home markets and to grow offshore in commercial cross-border banking.

However, with global rationalisation of banking moving ahead in Europe and the United States, we believe it would not be in our shareholders' interests to acquire a modest sized domestic-focused bank in a regional market. Long term commitment to such a move would involve retaining critical mass in a deregulated environment — a sizeable and costly task. Such a move would inevitably mean a substantial change in our balance of business. The result could see the Group become predominantly one with its main business in a foreign country. This would pose the question as to the best domicile and currency of the Group's business.

We believe that part of ANZ's competitive advantage is our Australasian domicile; to ensure we keep this advantage, balanced expansion at home and abroad is our goal.
